- 1. The data used in calculating rate base are averages.
- 2. Calculate those averages by summing the first-of-year and the end-of-year figures for each account and then dividing the sum by two.
- 3. Note: Do not include property held for future use or construction work in progress with utility plant in service. These are not rate base components.

Re: Review of Utility Plant and Depreciation Expense

Dear Ms. Austin:

The following matters are brought to your attention resulting from a review of utility plant and depreciation expense in the 1998 annual report.

The Commission adopted benchmark depreciation ranges during 1996, with the effective date of January 1, 1997. By letter dated July 31, 1996, with regard to analytical review of the 1995 annual report, your utility was provided with a schedule of depreciation rates for computing depreciation expense on each of the water utility plant accounts. A copy of these depreciation rates is on the enclosed Schedule 2. It appears that your utility did not use the authorized depreciation rates during 1997 and 1998, as indicated below.

For 1997, the authorized depreciation rates times the average of first of year and end of year plant investment result in total accruals of $22,016, whereas only $16,401 is reported on page F-7, lines 4 and 6. The under accrual is $5,615.

For 1998, the authorized depreciation rates times the average of first of year and end of year plant investment result in total accruals of $25,249, whereas only $18,827 is reported on page F-7, lines 4 and 6. The under accrual is $6,422.

Because these depreciation rates were used in the last rate case in docket 420-WR-103, it is necessary that these under accruals be recorded as an adjusting journal entry during 1999. The adjusting journal entry on the enclosed Schedule 1 should be made in your records, and the depreciation rates on the enclosed Schedule 2 should be used beginning in 1999.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me at (608) 266-1282.

Sincerely,

James P. Luckow

1998 Analytical Review DWCCA-420-PJL

Dear Ms. Austin:

The Public Service Commission has completed their analytical review of your 1998 annual report. The primary purpose of our analytical review is to detect possible accounting related errors and to identify significant fluctuations from prior year's data, which are not sufficiently explained in the footnotes of your annual report. Our review did not identify any such issues. We are closing the review of your 1998 annual report.

Thank you for your efforts in preparing your 1998 annual report. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at (608) 267-9198.

Sincerely,
